A Famous Preaching Cross.
St. Paul's cross, the famous preaching cross which stood beside St. Paul's cathedral in London for 400 years until it was torn down by order of the long parliament in 1643, is once more restored by private bequest. A graceful Doric column twenty-three feet high is surmounted by a bronze statue of the apostle bearing aloft a cross. There is also a raised platform from which, as in bygone days, there may be outdoor preaching. The old cross was the center of the stirring life of medieval London. Papal bulls and royal proclamations were read from it, notorious criminals received punishment there, Tyndale's translation of the Bible was burned in front of it, and all the famous preachers of the church up to the time of the civil war between king and parliament pleaded or thundered from its pulpit.

A Highland Superstition.
A curious highland superstition attaches to Lochnagar, a favorite spot with the royal family. It is said that when the snow lies early on the mountain it is the forerunner of misfortune to the owner of Balmoral. In the autumn previous to the death of Queen Victoria the snow lay thick on “dark Lochnagar,” and in 1903, notwithstanding the mildness of the season, a fall of snow occurred in October which greatly perturbed the inhabitants of the district, all of whom were firmly persuaded that the ill omen portended misfortune to the royal family within six months. The tragically unexpected death of King Edward in the following May gave color to the superstition.

GAVE $20,000 TO THE COLLEGE

Handsome Gifts to Local Institution Announced by President Granville at Banquet in Harrisburg Monday Evening.

One gift of $15,000 and two of $2500 each were announced by President Granville of Gettysburg College at a banquet of the Harrisburg-Gettysburg Club at the Commonwealth Hotel in the former city on Monday evening. The gift of $15,000 was made by Burton F. Blough a successful manufacturer in the Capitol City who several years ago paid for the construction of the running track and other improvements on Nixon Field. The money is to be used towards the establishment of an engineering course in the local institution.

At the banquet on Monday evening Dr. Granville announced that at the annual mid-winter meeting of the Board of Trustees today he would recommend the establishment of two engineering courses, a civil engineering department and one of municipal engineering. The latter is a comparatively new idea and one which will offer attractive inducements to prospective students. In addition the course would not be expensive to establish. Dr. Granville saying that for the first year only one new instructor would be required and for the second likely another. This is due to the fact that the present facilities and professors are able to cover the necessary ground.

The two gifts of $2500 each were made by Dr. George B. Kunkle and John F. Dapp, Esq., both of Harrisburg. They are to be used to increase the endowment fund of the college.

The Harrisburg banquet was largely attended by Gettysburg's most distinguished alumni in that city. The banquet itself was an elaborate affair and the event was the most notable in the history of the Harrisburg-Gettysburg club.

MISS HARRIET NOEL

Miss Harriet Noel died at 4.30 p. m. Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bowers in Butler township, after an illness of less than an hour. She was aged 77 years.

Miss Noel had been in her usual health until about a week prior to her death when she said she was not feeling well. On Friday afternoon she asked that a physician be summoned and then lay down on a couch. She grew rapidly worse and died shortly after the physician arrived. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary Kime, of near Arendtsville. Miss Noel was a daughter of John and Elizabeth Noel, deceased.

The funeral was held on Monday morning from her late home at 9.30 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Floto officiating. Interment in the cemetery at Arendtsville.

MORE HOPE FOR THE CYCLORAMA

Director of Company Owning the Exhibit Says that they still Hope to Give the Painting its Permanent Home Here.

That the proposition of bringing the cyclorama to Gettysburg and establishing it in a permanent handsome building is not a thing of the past was declared to a representative of this paper by a director in the company which owns the painting.

It will be remembered that a year or more ago it was reported that an option had been secured on the Cobean-Tawney corner for the erection of this building in which to house the world's most famous exhibit to the battle. The project lay dormant for a while and later Gettysburg people became interested in it and were placed upon the board of directors and given important officers.

Not long ago a dispatch was sent out from Chicago that the renowned painting had been sold to junk dealers for the sum of one dollar. In speaking of this the director above referred to said:

The sale of the painting as reported took place but it was merely a form, a technical proceeding, to get a full legal title to it. The company is now in full and legitimate possession of the exhibit and as soon as some matters are straightened out we hope to place it in Gettysburg for its permanent home.

The cyclorama is now stored in Seattle, Washington, and has been there for some years. This shows how much there is to the story that it was sold to Chicago junk dealers. It requires five cars to transport the painting. Just as soon as we can get things in shape we hope to push the plan through to a successful issue.

The above news will be welcome to the many Gettysburg people who feared that the last had been heard of what would doubtless be one of Gettysburg's largest attractions should it ever be located here.

MRS. JOHN M. HARE

Mrs. John M. Hare died at her home in Highlandtown, Friday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, of heart trouble, following an attack of pneumonia. She was aged 65 years, 10 months, and 1 day. She is survived by Mr. Hare, her second husband, and the following children by her first marriage: Mrs. Anna Sandruck, of Baltimore; Mrs. Catherine Staub, of New Oxford; Mrs. Helen Wenchoff, of Freedom township; Mrs. Carrie Polly, of Chambersburg; Harry L. Baker, of Freedom township; Roy Baker, New Oxford. She is also survived by three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. David Shulley, of Hamilton township; Mrs. David Rhodes, Freedom township; Mrs. John C. Cool, Biglerville; John D. Brown, Fairfield and Frederick Brown, Emmitsburg.

The pall bearers were George Kebel, George Shryock, Samuel Sanders, James H. Sanders, Joseph Weishaar and John Cool.

A Madrid Prison Journal.
Madrid possesses a model prison, which produces its own newspaper. The editor is an international swindler who can speak many languages, so to make the paper popular he has articles in Spanish, French, German and English. Everything is done in the prison. The editorial offices are on the second story, which in consequence is known as the “gallery of all the talents.” It seems that the authorities allow the prisoners on the staff to go out to distribute the journal and to canvass for advertisements, which are found on the fourth and last page. The editor has lofty ideas. His paper contains philological notes, general articles, a financial column and a “poet's corner.”

Francis Wilson's Sarcasm.
Francis Wilson was sitting in a group of actors at the Lambs club on the night of last Fourth of July when news came that the hopes of the white race had been cruelly dashed at Reno, Nev., by Vaudevillian Jack Johnson. It was known among those present that Mr. Wilson had made some sizeable wagers upon the defeated Mr. Jeffries, and they waited for the explosion.

“At least, gentlemen,” said Wilson mildly as he rose to go—“at least we can congratulate ourselves upon one thing—the title remains in the profession.”—Irvin Cobb in New York Tribune.

Tale of a Toast.
The appointment of Mr. Lush, K. C., to the bench in England revives the story of his father, the late Lord Justice Lush. He was a great friend of Mr. Justice Shee, and when these two were entertained at a banquet in honor of their being raised to the bench together a speaker gave as an equivalent to “wine and women” the toast of “Lush and Shee.”

CHRISTMAS DAY IN GETTYSBURG

Pretty Customs Observed here Early Christmas Morning. Sing on the Streets of Town. Well Attended Early Service.

Christmas was celebrated in Gettysburg with services and customs that were more beautiful and impressive than ever before.

Scarcely had the midnight hour on Saturday been announced when a company of women and men appeared on the streets of town and walked about to various sections singing the old familiar hymns of the Christmas season. The beautiful custom was inaugurated a year ago and is one of the prettiest ways of celebrating Christmas which Gettysburg has ever had. A midnight service was held in the Episcopal church.

An hour before dawn Sunday morning musicians played Christmas hymns from the steeple of St. James Lutheran church and so clear was the atmosphere that the beautiful strains could be heard a long distance away and the residents of town awoke to hear the hymns familiar from childhood being sweetly played.

The dawn service in St. James at which a cantata was well rendered was so largely attended that not nearly all the people could enter the church in the other churches of town Christmas was observed in the usual manner. The houses of worship were prettily decorated, gifts were distributed and carefully prepared programs rendered. Many were the family reunions in Gettysburg Sunday and Monday, the latter day being observed by many as Christmas and it is doubtful if Gettysburg, ever had a better, a brighter or a more beautifully celebrated Christmas season.

SHOOTING MATCH

A large and successful shooting match was held in Menchey's Lane on Monday afternoon. In the first clay bird match William Linn and George Taylor tied for first place, Taylor winning on the shoot off secured 13 1-2 pound turkey. Harry Hoke was second and won a 7 1-2 pound turkey. In the second clay bird match George Hampton was first and took a thirteen pound turkey. For second place there were four tied, Adam Myers, George Taylor, C. B. Hoffman and Harry Bixler. Bixler won a seven pound turkey when the tie was broken. George Taylor and Free Pittenturf divided the sweepstakes in the live bird match. William Eden killed six birds straight, all that he attempted. Three shots and a turkey were the stakes in the still target matches.

SAVED BY HUMAN CHAIN

By forming a human chain, Norman Miller, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Miller, of Spring Grove, was rescued from drowning, Monday afternoon, by Lester Myers, assisted by several of the former boy's companions. Miller was celebrating Christmas by skating on the paper mill dam, and getting on some thin ice broke through. He was precipitated into about eight feet of water, and each time he made an effort to crawl out on the ice it would break beneath him.

Cries for help brought Lester Myers, a member of the Spring Grove basketball team, to the scene. He lay prostrate on the ice and instructed others to grasp his legs while he crawled out to the drowning lad. He managed to reach Miller's hands just as he was sinking, and pulled him to safety.

BILLY PAPKE.

American Loses on Foul in Australia.

PAPKE LOSES TO SMITH ON FOUL

Australian Gets Decision in Tenth Round.

Sydney, New South Wales, Dec. 27.—"Billy" Papke was beaten in this city in the tenth round of a bout with "Dave" Smith, who is the Australian middleweight champion.

It was Papke's own fault that he lost. He fouled and the referee decided against him at once.

For the last ten days Papke has been asserting that the climate did not agree with him, and for part of the time he was up in the foothills.

Smith led the fighting from the beginning. The American boxer, who is a hard hitter and who is the type of fighter who likes nothing better than to "mix it" in the ring with an opponent, seemed to lack some of the action which usually characterizes his work, and when he started to take the fight to Smith he was cautioned by the referee.

After that came the foul and the disqualification of the American fighter. He is the first of the party to lose a contest since the Americans began to give exhibitions in this country.

It is doubtful whether Papke will remain for a return match, as he is dissatisfied with the general conditions here, and is anxious to get back to the United States and make a match with some of the boxers who are claiming the middleweight championship.

Both men appeared at the police station bearing their discolored members. The pastor, against whom a charge of maiming was placed, was released on bond, signed by practically all the members of Mount Zion church. The trouble originated over church affairs.

Wasting Time on the Devil.

It is wonderful how much time good people spend fighting the devil. If they would only expend the same amount of energy loving their fellow men the devil would die in his own tracks of ennui.—From Helen Keller's "Story of My Life."

Indorse It as It is Written There.

She took the check and after much hesitation said, "I don't think I can make an M like that."

Keep pure the mouth, the gateway of health. Mother, you should realize how unclean teeth destroy your child's health and prospects in life. Teeth not brushed every day decay, become tender, and the child cannot comfortably chew his food. Coarse food will not digest; poor digestion means lack of nourishment to the little body; the blood becomes thin; the constitution weak; the child is an easy victim to disease, suffering the while from the bitter pain of decaying teeth.

High Sounding Names.

Writing in his Paris paper on the growing custom on the part of parents to give their children "high sounding" names, Clement Vautel says: "When the boy is old enough to understand he rebels at being compelled to carry through life a name like Anacreon or Hipparchus. But he has company. I know a deputy whose parents named him Franklin. The name in itself is not so bad, but he has two brothers, Voltaire and Socrates respectively. Fancy this scene in the nursery: Franklin howling because Voltaire has broken his toy, while Socrates laughs at both. The mother as peacemaker shouts, 'Stop, Socrates, or you'll be punished!' In a narrow street in Marseilles one broiling hot day I saw a woman spanking a child, shouting in anger, 'You naughty Epaminondas! I'll teach you, Epaminondas! I could never think of the Theban general after that wretched day!'"

BANDIT HOLDS UP A TRAIN

Daring Robber Takes Valuables From Passengers.

SHOT AT ARMY OFFICER

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 27.—Officers are hunting for the bandit who, single handed, robbed more than a hundred passengers on a Missouri Pacific train between Kansas City, Kan., and Leavenworth Junction.

The only man wounded by the robber was Captain H. L. Newbold, a student officer of the army school at Fort Leavenworth. When the passengers in the Pullman were ordered to throw up their hands, Captain Newbold did not comply quickly enough to suit the robber, who fired. The bullet inflicted only a slight scalp wound.

Conductor Is Robbed.

After cautioning Captain Newbold and another passenger to keep quiet, the robber turned around as J. A. May, the conductor, entered the compartment. He, too, was ordered to throw up his hands, and he did. May was then robbed of his money and watch.

Among the other passengers in the Pullman who were robbed was Miss Sadie Beach, of Leavenworth. She was more courteously treated than the other passengers.

When the bandit reached her he did not point his revolver at her, but, taking hold of her purse, exclaimed impatiently, "Oh, give me that pocket-book." He got the purse.

Entering the day coach, the robber shoved the revolver into the face and the first passenger he met and then fired through the window. This thoroughly intimidated the passengers, who complied with his demands.

Several of the passengers saved their money by dropping it beside their seats or simply handing the man what small change they had. To two passengers who handed him a small amount of money the man returned it, telling them that if that was all they had they could keep it.

Prevents an Alarm.

After the robber left the Pullman Conductor May stepped to the rear, intending to drop a telegram at a small station. Before he could do this the bandit returned and ordered May inside the car. Then, leaving the Pullman, he cut the air signal rope in two places. This was a needless precaution, however, as the train had no air signal connections.

The man is described as small in stature, well dressed, wearing a brown suit and a black cap. Over his face he wore a black mask.

WAITER INHERITS $60,000

Harry Reiser Did Odd Jobs, Too, to Make a Living.

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 27.—Harry Reiser received a letter apprising him that he had fallen heir to over $60,000, part of a half million dollar fortune left by his grandmother, Mrs. Rebecca Sacks, of Gerlingen, Baden, Germany. The letter was from Louis Reiser, of Chicago, an uncle.

Reiser was left a considerable fortune on the death of his father twelve years ago. He went through his money quickly, and in the last few years has been a waiter and doer of odd jobs. Saturday he was selling Christmas trees on one of the street corners of Paterson.

DOZEN LIVE ON $1.35 WAGE

Remarkable Story of Family Revealed in Pittsburgh Court.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 27.—A tale of comfort and thrift, contrary to the usual ones of distress and woe, was unfolded in the juvenile court by Miss Nannie Oppenheimer, a probation officer, to the astonishment of the court and spectators.

A family of twelve is supported on an income of $1.35 a day, but how it was done was not disclosed. Miss Oppenheimer unfolded the tale when she requested Judge Cohen to allow Antonio Eli, aged ten years, arrested for being in the streets late at night, to go home.

Explosion Kills Two Girls.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 27.—Elise and Margaret Bryan, aged twenty-two and sixteen years respectively, daughters of Mrs. Mary Bryan, a widow, were fatally burned, and their brother, Andrew, aged twenty-three years, was seriously injured in an explosion of gas which partially wrecked the Bryan home, in Coraopolis. The two girls died at a hospital.

Not a Born Forger.

The indorsement of checks is a very simple thing; but, as the following story will show, it, too, has its difficulties.

A woman went into a bank where she had several times presented checks drawn to Mrs. Lucy B. Smith. This time the check was made to the order of Mrs. M. J. Smith. M. J. were her husband's initials. She explained this to the paying teller and asked what she should do.

"Oh, that is all right," he said. "Just

JACK CUDAHY RECONCILED?

Divorced Wife at Same Hotel Where Husband Is Stopping.

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 27.—Mrs. Edna Cudahy, the divorced wife of Jack Cudahy, son of the late Michael Cudahy, the millionaire meat packer, has arrived in Pasadena and is domiciled at the Cudahy residence, where her former husband has been stopping since his arrival last Wednesday.

It is said on good authority that a reconciliation has been effected.

Mrs. Cudahy obtained a divorce on Aug. 23. This followed a sensational episode in the Kansas City home of the couple on the morning of March 5, when Jere S. Lillis, a wealthy banker, was mutilated by Cudahy and a man purporting to be his chauffeur. The divorce was granted on the ground of incompatibility of temper.

TRIPLETS FOR ONE MAN

One Christmas Present For Pittsburgh Man Weighs Ten Pounds.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 27.—Three big healthy babies, one of whom weighs ten pounds, was the unusual Christmas gift to Maurice Sweeney, a watchman in a McKeesport mill, who had the Christmas presents at his home when he returned from work.

Although he has his doubts about being able to support the three children comfortably, Sweeney says it is the best Christmas gift he ever received, and he vows he will name the ten-pound boy Maurice, in honor of himself.

RIOTING SPREADS OVER COAL FIELD

Murder of Striker the Third in Twenty-four Hours.

Greensburg, Pa., Dec. 27.—The strike ridden coalfields of Westmoreland county are in the throes of rioting, the result of large quantities of liquor that has been shipped into the various mining camps.

The third murder in twenty-four hours was reported to the coroner in the death of Tony Carcino, a striker, who was formerly employed at Osborne, a small mining town of the Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal company. Mike Calcerski and John Nathan are being sought by the state police.

Carcino was living in a strikers' camp and was shot to death when there was an assault upon the camp. About seventy-five shots were fired and Carcino was found later with three bullet holes in his back.

There have been repeated demands for the state police from various sections of the coalfields in this section. Twelve were sent to Bradenville, six to Madison, two to Claridge, two to Adamsburg and four to Somerset. The authorities fear there will be a general outbreak all over the coalfields.

FREE 33 PRISONERS

Magistrate Unlocks Cells Himself in Scranton Jail.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 27.—Thirty-two prisoners were given their freedom as Christmas presents from Magistrate W. S. Millar and Director of Public Safety W. C. O'Malley.

Shrieks of delight from the liberated prisoners almost put the others in a panic. Eight of the prisoners treated to this unique Christmas gift were women, two of them being held for being connected with a "white slave" who is now under indictment.

Magistrate Millar himself appeared at the jail with the discharges written by himself. He took keen delight in unlocking the cells which kept the prisoners away from a merry Christmas. Many of the liberated prisoners fell on their knees and kissed his hand.

THE ONLY WAY

Many Gettysburg Citizens Have Discovered It.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected, is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Gettysburg citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

Mrs. Frank Tawney, 28 Breckenridge street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family with excellent results."

I publicly endorsed them 2 years ago and hold just as high an opinion of them at this time. A member of my family was afflicted with kidney trouble for years and probably inherited it. This person suffered a great deal from pains in his back and sides and was unable to control the kidney secretions. A cold always aggravated the complaint. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box at the People's Drug Store and their use effected a complete cure." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. HOXSEY FLIES TWO MILES HIGH

NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Accomplished Feat in a Forty-Mile Gale and Is Paraded Around Grounds by Fellow Aviators.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 27.—Seventy-five thousand persons saw Arch Hoxsey, of the Wright team of aviators, break the world's record for altitude here.

Hoxsey soared more than two miles up into the sky, his barograph registering 11,474 feet, or almost 1000 feet above the altitude of 10,499 feet recently attained by Leganeux at Pau, France.

This is the second time the existing world's altitude record has been broken in Los Angeles, the first time being last January, when Louis Paulhan rose a little more than 4000 feet.

Hoxsey accomplished his feat in a forty mile gale that wrecked Hubert Latham's Antoinette monoplane and kept more cautious aviators on the ground.

Hoxsey's barograph showed the greatest height while he soared over Venice, a seashore resort more than twenty miles from the aviation field.

Glides to Earth.

Coming down, he made a series of thrilling spiral glides while thousands of feet in the air. Before he came lightly to earth the crowd was on its feet cheering. He was lifted from his biplane by fellow aviators, who paraded up and down before the grand stand bearing the intrepid flier upon their shoulders.

The crowds insisted on making a hero of Hoxsey. They did not give him time to doff his furs, but marched him back and forth before the grand stand.

"Was it windy up there?" he was asked.

"It blew so hard," replied Hoxsey, "that my machine hardly moved and barely held its own. It was so cold that more than once I thought my carburetor was about to freeze."

"I made the record because I determined to keep on going up until I passed Leganeux's record, or until the carburetor froze."

The gale which Hoxsey and his brethren of the Wright camp, Parmalee and Brookins, braved successfully, wrecked Latham's beautiful Antoinette machine completely.

The Frenchman was among the aviators who answered the starting gun. For two hours and fifteen minutes he fought the wind, which blew directly off the ocean, six miles from the aviation field. Then an adverse current slapped his aeroplane downward, hurled it into a fence under the brow of a hill and threw the aviator into a gully.

Escapes Injuries In Fall.

The Frenchman was unhurt, but his machine was a tangled mass of wire and silken fabric. The motor was the only part left intact, and Latham declared that having enough parts for three extra machines, he would build a new monoplane and be in the air again before the end of the meet.

Parmalee, driver of the "baby" Wright, also dared the wind and attained an altitude of 6625 feet. He electrified the crowd by a series of whirling dips. Then Walter Brookins, originator of the spiral glide, went up. At this time the wind had attained a velocity of forty miles an hour, but the Wright man went through spectacular performances apparently with as much ease as on the calmest day.

AVIATOR FALLS

Is Seriously Injured When Aeroplane Crashes Into Frank Morok.

New York, Dec. 27.—Frank Morok, a Belgian, who has made only three flights in a Schneider aeroplane, attempted to fly from the race track at Guttenberg, N. J., to Columbus Circle, opposite the Hotel Plaza, New York city.

The aviator came to grief after going 700 feet. He crashed into Sullivan's road house at Bergen Line avenue and Thirty-ninth street, smashed the window and tumbled to the ground amid the wreckage of his machine. No bones were broken, but the aviator was terribly bruised and he will be in the hospital for several days.

Skater Drowns as He Goes Home.

Beaver, Pa., Dec. 27.—Just after laughingly telling his companions that he had enough skating for one day, and starting for home, Avery Powers, fourteen years old, of Rochester, broke through the ice on the Beaver river at Bridgewater and was drowned.

Prepared For Emergency.

"What makes you keep giving me fish for dinner day after day?" he inquired. "Are you particularly fond of it?"

"No," she replied. "I was wholly unselfish. I read a lovely recipe about how to remove a fishbone when it sticks in your throat, and I wanted to try it."—Washington Star.

ARABS KILL FOURTEEN

British Landing Force Had Hard Fight With Persian Insurgents.

Bushide, Persia, Dec. 27.—A landing force from the British cruiser Hyacinthe had a serious brush with Arabian gun runners on the southern coast of Persia.

Fourteen of the British were killed or wounded. The Arabs lost forty.

The Arabs were engaged in bringing in a large supply of arms and ammunition for the insurgent tribesmen who are fighting the Persian government forces.

Information was given to the captain of the Hyacinthe, and, running in to the coast, a landing party was quickly thrown ashore and surprised the filibusters, who showed fight and were not dispersed without some hard fighting.

MASKED MEN SHOOT ALLEGED MURDERER

Met Death While Handcuffed to Deputy Sheriff.

Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 27.—A mob of twenty masked men entered the county jail, halted Oscar Chitwood and a deputy sheriff to whom he was handcuffed and shot Chitwood to death in the jail yard.

Chitwood has been in custody since last August, charged with having murdered Sheriff Jake Hought. Recently he secured a change of venue for his trial and he was to have been taken to Benton, Ark. Deputy Sheriff Rutherford handcuffed Chitwood and put the second bracelet on his own wrist preparatory to taking him to the police station, from whence they were to start for Benton.

Between the jail and the courtyard lays an enclosure built for the hanging of a murderer. As the sheriff and his prisoner were passing through this enclosure three men with handkerchiefs over their faces met them. Just outside the enclosure the rest of the masked mob waited.

The deputy sheriff was ordered to throw up his hands, and as he stood there with his hands in the air the three masked men shot their bullets into Chitwood. Nothing was said, and when the prisoner fell to the ground evidently dead the masked men walked outside, rejoined their companions, and all disappeared.

Waycross, Ga., Dec. 27.—Walter Allen and Dener Crews are dead and Walter Crews and John Stallings are mortally wounded as a result of a pistol duel growing out of a quarrel over two girls. Dener and Walter Crews, brothers, called on the girls, and found Allen and Stallings in the parlor. The Crews brothers resented the presence of Allen and Stallings and hot words followed. The four young men left and resumed their quarrel. Pistols were drawn and a duel fought at close range in the public road. When the duel ended Allen and Dener Crews were dead and Walter Crews and Stallings dying.

TAFT AND T. R. ARE FRIENDLY

DIFFERENCES HEALED UP

Politicians Expect Roosevelt to Declare in Favor of Renomination of Mr. Taft in 1912—News Interests Insurgents.

Washington, Dec. 27.—It was stated here that President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt have been in close communication for many weeks past.

The president, it was said, has received and sent letters to the colonel and has in other ways communicated with him almost daily for some time. These letters, so reports say, have touched upon questions of domestic concern, international affairs and party politics. Just who initiated this correspondence isn't made known.

Politicians in Washington are inclined to the belief that when the time comes, the colonel will make it known that he is favorable to the renomination of the president. This idea is not newly conceived. It was suggested during and immediately after the late campaign, when the political atmosphere in Washington was surcharged with reports that the relations between Mr. Taft and his former chief were frigid and that the time was not far removed when there would be an open break.

Progressives Distrust Roosevelt.

The logic of the situation, politicians say, calls for an alignment of Colonel Roosevelt with President Taft. They declare the progressives distrust Mr. Roosevelt. They charge him with being inconsistent on the tariff, pointing to his attitude in the New York state convention as compared with his utterance on the subject in western states. The reports that Mr. Taft and Colonel Roosevelt are in close correspondence have excited a good deal of interest, especially among insurgents who have in mind putting a candidate of their own to the Republican national convention of 1912.

Persons who ought to know say that if there was a break between the president and the colonel that it has been closed. Both Mr. Taft and Colonel Roosevelt, politicians say, know that the efforts to tighten up party lines must be begun at once if there is to be a favorable result in 1912.

President Taft has said that he is not seeking renomination. He has indicated clearly enough that if the people desire him to run again he will do so. The president foresaw the defeat of last November. Months ago he predicted the result, but he has never shown any intention of quitting, and now he is said to be convinced that there is a good chance of retrieving the defeat of Nov. 8.

BERRIES KILL THREE

Children Sent to Gather Mistletoe Eat Berries and Die.

Blytheville, Ark., Dec. 27.—Three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Griffin are dead in their home near Luxora as a result of eating the berries on mistletoe.

The children were sent to the woods for the decorations to make the Griffin home cheerful during the holiday season, and on the way back they swallowed quantities of the little white berries.

They became violently ill after they reached their mother and all died in twenty-four hours. This is the second incident of the kind in this community in three years.

BABY SMOTHERS TO DEATH

Parents Trim Christmas Tree While Child Is Dying.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 27.—Christmas festivities at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, Morrisville, were spoiled by the discovery that a four-month-old daughter had been smothered in the night by the bed clothing.

The children were put to bed early, and the father and mother spent until far into the night trimming the Christmas tree. When the children awoke in the morning the mother could not move her daughter. She had been smothered in the night.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Neutrality.

"Ah, the pathway of man from the cradle to the grave is full of brambles," remarked the desiccated looking stranger with the pickle shaped head who had invaded the hamlet with the intention of placing in as many households as possible a "Compendium of the Favorite Hymns, Last Words and Epitaphs of the Great" and was now circumambulating around toward attempting to trade a copy for two weeks' board and lodging. "Laughter is ever wet with tears."

"I s'pose so," without animation replied the landlord of the Skeedee tavern.

"Ah, yes! Comedy and tragedy go hand in hand. We sniff the fragrance of the dewy rose and a noxious insect stings us on our nose. The sparkling glass of wine has a large, unscrupulous viper ensconced in it. Figuratively, the plum cake of life has dried hornets in it in lieu of raisins. Man is indeed of few days and full of trouble."

"Yes, I gezzo." "Exactly! Then would it not appear, as some hold, that the right to end one's existence at will is but a fair compensation for the fact that man is brought into this life of trial without his consent?" "I don't know, professor, whether I just exactly grasp the drift of your remarks or not," said mine host, with more interest than he had hitherto displayed. "But I'd like to state for your information that, in addition to keeping tavern, I am the corner of the county and that, while in the former capacity all a guest is intrinsically worth to me is $2 a day, I get a fee of $25 in case he develops an inclination to commit suicide and acts thereon. Looks sort of like rain off to the southeast, don't it?"—Tom P. Morgan in Puck.

Lesson in Grammar.

"What?" said the little girl. The father is something of a fastidious as to speech, and he said: "You should never say 'What?' my dear. Always say 'I beg your pardon.'" That the injunction erred on the side of sweepiness was conveyed to him yesterday, when the little girl, pointing to a blossom, said: "I beg your pardon" is the name of that flower?—London Chronicle.

He Knew About It.

An old negro being asked if the water of certain springs was pure replied: "Yessum. Dis yar water had been scandalized by the best phrenologists in de land, and dey say, dey do, as how it maintain ten parts or exhide acid, ten parts er cowbonic acid and de balance am clar hydropobia—yessum."—New Bloomfield (Mo.) News.

Unprecedented.

Man With the Bulging Brow—I hear you lost money on that wrestling match in Frings' barn the other night. How did that happen? Didn't you have a sure tip?
Man With the Bulbous Nose—Tip nothin'! It turned out that the match was absolutely on the square!—Chicago Tribune.

New Faces Seen On America's Supreme Court

PERSONS visiting the room in the capitol at Washington set apart for the supreme court of the United States will soon have an opportunity of seeing two new faces on the bench and the removal of a familiar countenance to the center, where sat Chief Justice Fuller for many years. It will be a change of a few seats for Justice Edward Douglass White of Louisiana, but for Justices Willis Van Devanter of Wyoming and Joseph R. Lamar of Georgia it means the elevation from lesser judicial benches.

In the center of the distinguished line of nine jurists no longer will be seen the flowing white hair and mustache of Mr. Fuller, but the jovial, rubicund, Pickwickian features of Mr. White, restoring the court tradition that all justices, and particularly the chief, shall be smooth shaven. The new members assist the tradition, for both Van Devanter and Lamar show neither mustache nor whiskers. The Wyomingite formerly had a mustache, but discarded it when appointed to the federal circuit court.

Justice White was formerly senator from Louisiana and was appointed to the bench by President Cleveland. While in the upper house he opposed the old income tax law, but the following year as associate justice he handed down a minority opinion that the law was constitutional. He was one of the minority who voted against the government in the Northern Securities merger, but he joined with the majority in sustaining the federal power in the insular case. Justice White's favorite pastime to rid himself of judicial cares is piano playing, but he will never perform in public.

Justice Van Devanter on the circuit bench decided against the Standard Oil company, supporting the power of congress to regulate and restrict commerce between states. He is the first representative of the Rocky mountain west to be given a seat on the supreme bench.

His appointment has greatly pleased the south, as all three Democrats on the supreme bench, White, Lurton and Lamar, come from south of Mason and Dixon's line.

How to Lead Yale Next Season.

Arthur Howe of South Orange, N. J., has been elected to captain the Yale eleven next season. Howe was the logical choice for the captaincy, and his selection has been generally forecasted. He is a brother of Henry Howe, who captained the Yale crew two years ago. He failed to make his class eleven in his freshman year as quarterback, but has been the varsity quarterback the past two seasons.

TIMELY HINTS FOR FARMERS

Winter Work in the Wood Lot.

It is always best to attend to this work of getting in the supply of fuel as soon as there is snow enough to get around comfortably in the wood lot much better than when it gets to be deep or drifted, says the American Cultivator.

Those having an average size wood lot are fortunate and should take all reasonable care to keep it in a thrifty, flourishing condition. It does not require a very large lot to furnish sufficient fuel for family use by careful management and still keep it in a good, thrifty condition.

The trees that are commencing to decay or that have obtained their full growth should first be selected out and removed. It will require more care and work to do this than to cut the timber off clean, but this should be willingly done for the benefit of the lot.

The young growing trees should be carefully looked after and not injured in removing the larger trees, for the future value of the wood lot will depend largely on this. The large old trees will make good wood after being cut into short lengths by a machine, after which they can be readily split. Where properly thinned out the new growth will come forward quite fast, and especially if cattle are kept out of the lot.

Drones of the Hen Yard.

As few cocks as possible should be kept about the farm. Only enough to mate with the breeding stock will be needed. A host of cockerels eat a great deal of grain and produce no profit. The very best of all produced during the year should be selected to be kept on the farm. The remainder, including the yearlings and two-year-olds and any that are older, should be fattened and sent to market, and with them should be sold all the hens and pullets that lack proper body formation and vitality. Vitality may generally be discovered through the alertness of the fowl. Fowls that are active are usually healthy and vigorous.—Country Gentleman.

Care of Horses When Idle.

As the busy season closes and the horses are idle more of the time give them less grain feed and only twice each day while they are not working. Give all of the horses the run of some field or pasture when they are idle. The exercise and fresh air alone will do them good. The horse, above all other domestic animals, needs abundance of exercise to harden the muscles.

BEST FLOOR FOR THE HENHOUSE.

Wood Covered With Clean Litter Gives Satisfaction.

What is there about the henhouse that is more important than the floor? Here the hens spend about half of their time if confined inside the building, and for this reason it should be of good material and kept in proper shape, writes V. M. Couch in the Farm and Fireside. I hear it said that a dirt floor is best for hens because it's the nearest to nature. But there is a lot of difference between dirt made more or less filthy by droppings and litter and dirt out in the field, where it is clean, pure and dry. It is possible to have a dirt floor in just as good condition for poultry as any floor, but keeping it so calls for a lot of extra work. Besides, many henhouses are on ground where there is dampness working up all the time, which keeps the litter soggy and cold.

It is claimed by some that a dirt floor is much better than any other because the fowls can roll and dust themselves on it. It does not seem to me that a mixture of dirty dust, waste feed, litter and filth is suitable stuff for a dust bath. In fact, one reason for keeping the floor clean is to prevent the hens from dusting there in disease producing material.

The floor that suits me best is one made of wood. If you want to make this soft like a dirt floor put on a few inches of sand or fine gravel and or top of that the litter, but I seldom have sand on a board floor, for I don't think it necessary.

Cement is my next choice to wood. It is probably cheapest in the end because most durable, but it is a conductor of both cold and moisture and inferior in this respect to wood, which is a nonconductor of cold and dampness.

Provide Dust For Hens.

A good dusting place in a sunny corner of the yard where the wind does not strike it invites the hens to clean themselves of the large body lice. All hens are always infested with lice; hence your duty to dust them liberally with an insect powder.

Big Money From Tested Cows.

One dairyman produced $2,000 worth of milk from twenty cows, or $100 per cow, while a neighbor bestoved twice as much labor on forty cows and sold only $1,800 worth of milk, or $45 per cow.

The Unattainable.

"I wonder why no fairy godmother appear nowadays to poor people?" "They're probably afraid somebody will ask for a beefsteak."—Washington Herald.

Her Finish Coming.

"I understand Smith's daughter is a finished singer." "Not yet. She doesn't appear in public until tonight."—Baltimore Sun.
